Sunday December 7th

A Christmas Visit to Baddesley Clinton and Packwood House

BOOKING FORM

A visit to two delightful Warwickshire properties (both National Trust) – Baddesley Clinton is a romantic, moated medieval manor rescued from dereliction in 1867 by its new owners (a fascinating quartet). Nearby Packwood House was saved, restored and re-furnished in the early 20th century by Graham Baron Ash (who bought much of the furniture from Baddesley Clinton). It is famous for its topiary garden and we will have a private tour of the garden.

Both houses will be decorated for Christmas, reflecting the style and period of these new owners. We will have lunch at Baddesley Clinton, a two/three course meal in a private room and tea at Packwood House.

Times: We leave Stroud at 9.00am and return at 5.45pm (there is a pick up in Eastcombe.)

Costs: £35.00 (to include coach and 2 course lunch.) or £38(to include coach and 3 course lunch) Menu available on booking but includes a veg option.

Entrance is free to Baddesley Clinton. It is free also to NT members to Packwood. We have a number of Civic Trust vouchers available for entrance to Packwood, which should cover non-NT members.
